In Re. Woo-63 - Well No. 1
on the C.D. White Farm, Steele District, Wood County

Dear Miss Griffith:

After reaching a total depth of 4747 feet in our Woo-63 well, it was necessary to abandon same. The contractor lost a bailer and a string of tools in the hole. We attempted cementing in a whipstock and side tracking the tools but had little success. This well was in the Marcellus Shale at 4747 feet.

We skidded the rig 60 feet and are starting to drill again. This time we are using a different casing program, starting with 18-inch conductor pipe instead of 14-inch. We just skidded the rig sixty feet, the well is on the same property.

Kindly advise if it is necessary for a new drilling permit and location plat.

Very truly yours,

JOHN A. THOMPSON,
Asst. Treas. & Chief Engr.

Dear Mr. Thompson:

In reply to your letter of March 10th, regarding another permit for location on the C. D. White Farm, Steel District, Wood County, it will not be necessary to have another permit since you are skidding the rig only 60' from the original location, but we would like to have a revised plat.

Our records do not show that you have obtained a permit to plug the original hole of 4747', which should have been done before the rig was removed. Please submit an application to plug and a complete record of the well. Blanks are enclosed.

Dear Miss Griffith:

Enclosed please find well record and your Department of Mines form titled "Notice of

We finally located the Oriskany sand in Wood County but couldn't find any water, oil or gas. If our proposed method of plugging is satisfactory would appreciate your Okaying same so that we can immediately proceed with abandoning this dry hole.

Some time ago you requested a corrected

Dear Miss Griffith:

We are enclosing our completed Plugging Affidavits covering the wells that we drilled on the C.D. White farm, Steele District, Wood County, West Virginia. You will remember that it was necessary for us to skid the rig after we had drilled the first well 4850 feet deep. We finally drilled through the Oriskany sand on the second well. The sand was very hard with no porosity or permeability as there was absolutely nothing in the Oriskany.

The wells were plugged in accordance with your specifications. We regret the long delay in mailing these final affidavits to you.

Dear Mr. Roberts:

Enclosed is an extra copy I had of the record for Well No. 1 on the C. D. White Farm, Steel District, Wood County, drilled by the Belmont Quadrangle Drilling Corporation.

This record is the final drilling of the Oriakany well on the White Farm. As you probably know, the original location was drilled to about 4700' and the hole sealed because a bailer and drilling tools were lost in the well.
